

Mission Statement

The vocation of the Kings Cross Steelers Rugby Football Club is primarily to provide the opportunity for gay and bisexual men to play and enjoy ever-improving standards of rugby. As the world's first gay rugby team, our mission is to assert in front of the whole rugby community our value as competitive sportsmen through our progress and results. Our Club aims to be a role model to the gay community, and a successful example of friendly cohabitation between people of different sexual orientation.

The Club will strive:

- To ensure that it develops the self-confidence and motivation of all its players
- To field a team that plays and enjoys competitive senior rugby
- To supply an alternative platform for those desiring to play social rugby
- To provide structured training at various levels to advance the abilities of all players joining the Club
- To provide an environment where gay and bisexual men can feel comfortable about their sexuality whilst pursuing their interest in rugby.
- To actively encourage new and former players, especially where they may have been discouraged by prejudice
- To encourage, develop and integrate the Club's supporters
- To provide an active social programme for the enjoyment of players and supporters
